All About Toastmasters

How Toastmasters works.

At Toastmasters, members learn by speaking to groups and working with others in a supportive environment. NASA Headquarters Toastmasters club currently is made up of civil servants and contractors who meet the 1st and 3rd Thursday each month for an hour. Each meeting gives everyone an opportunity to practice:

- Giving impromptu speeches
- Presenting prepared speeches.

The Tools You Use.

Upon joining a Toastmasters club, each new member receives a variety of manuals and resources on speaking. Members also have access to other books as well as audio and video cassettes on speaking and leading. They also receive the award-winning, “The Toastmaster,” a monthly magazine that offers the latest insights on speaking and leadership techniques.

Toastmasters and Leadership.

Leadership cannot be learned in a day. It takes practice. In Toastmasters, members build leadership skills by organizing and conducting meetings and motivating others to help them. Club leadership roles and a leadership development program also offer opportunities to learn and practice. Just as Toastmasters members learn to speak, simply by speaking, they learn leadership by leading.

NASA Benefits.

NASA’s success also depends on communication. Employees face an endless exchange of ideas, messages, and information as they deal with one another and with customers day after day. Toastmasters provides the tools that enable employees to become effective communicators and leaders all at a very low cost. The HQ Training will pay for training for civil servants.
